

Call for Interview Participants

Share Your Experience and
Make a Difference in Oral Healthcare

Understanding the Oral Health of Older People Who Receive Care Support

- The Centre for Public Health at Queen's University Belfast is looking for participants to share their experience in a 30-minute interview.
- The interview will explore how oral health affects the daily lives and well-being of older people who receive care support.
- The interview will take place in-person, online or by telephone.

We are seeking participants who are:

Older adults:

- ✓ Aged 65 years or older
- ✓ Receiving some level of care support (from occasional to regular assistance with daily activities e.g. meal preparation, transportation, or personal care)

Caregivers:

- ✓ Aged 18 years or older
- ✓ Providing care support for an older adult with moderate or severe dependence (e.g. somewhat or fully dependent for daily care, including bathing, feeding, dressing, and/or mobility)

For more information, contact Dr Danielle Logan

Email: oralnutrition@qub.ac.uk

Phone: 07385968725

This study has been approved by the Faculty of Medicine, Health and Life Sciences Research Ethics Committee, Queen's University Belfast. Your participation will be kept confidential.